

Prayer of the Faithful
24th Sunday in Ordinary Time
September 10 – 11, 2021

Presider: Knowing that the Lord, God, is our help, we humbly ask our God to hear and respond to our prayers and petitions.

Lector:

For the Church, may we join together with our Jewish sisters and brothers in their example of atonement and repentance on their holiest day of the year this coming Thursday, Yom Kippur, we pray...

For world and religious leaders, may they strive to eliminate war and terrorism and instead foster peace and deeper understanding among Jews, Christians, Muslims, and all peoples of the world regardless of race, creed, gender or sexual orientation, we pray...

For our nation, may we come to understand the summons Jesus gives to deny ourselves, take up our cross and follow him into the ways of love and mercy, we pray...

For our planet during this Season of Creation, may we commit ourselves to living more sustainably so that all of creation may be protected, we pray...

For our parish community, may we do our part to embody the theme of this year's Season of Creation to transform our common home into a tent for all of creation, we pray...

For those who have been impacted by recent natural disasters, for those seeking asylum and for those in need of our prayers at this time, among them Angela Maier, we pray...

For all our beloved dead, among them, James S. Brennan, Paula Buckley, Claire Corcoran, Kerry O'Reilly, Richard Breen, Patrick Cadigan, Louis Pimpas, Jorge Alfonzo, Graciela Madrid, Victor M. Quintero, Henry Maffeo and those who died as a result of the terrorist attacks 20 years ago this weekend, may they receive the salvation promised in the Gospel, we pray...

Presider: God of mercy, hear our prayers, save us and free us to walk before you in the land of the living through Christ our Lord.
AMEN
